

The weird penguin

One time, a penguin traveled to the USA and got so cold that he had to find a sauna to go in. He found a locker room for men and saw a sauna in it. But he accidentally went to the women's locker room instead. So word got around that there was a "peeping tom" in the bathroom. So he then went to the sauna in the men's and finally got in a sauna. While he was in the sauna, a man came out and got so scared of the penguin that he had to drop his sandwich that he was holding. the penguin ate the sandwich but he got SICK! So he ordered a Uber with his phone. But the question was how did the uber solve it? And that is a question you can think about.
